1.4KG DRY-AGED TOMAHAWK (FOR TWO) ... 140

Dry-ageing is a prehistoric technique used for preparing beef. Here at the Original Coopers Alehouse, we hang our carcass for 30 days above pink Himalayan salt blocks, creating the flavour profile & tenderness of the meat. During the ageing process, the enzymes break down the connective tissue between the muscle fibre, tenderising the meat. At the same time, the cut of meat loses moisture, concentrating the flavour of the meat. Here, the meat can rest, mature & reach its highest possible grade.

Our meat is not confined to plastic, our meat does what meat loves to do... it breathes.

For the best experience with our dry-aged steaks, we recommend requesting your cook style to be one level below your usual preference. 45 minimum wait for Tomahawk.
